Mercedes-Benz 280 /
280 E Limousine W114

The 68 revolution in the upper medium-size category

Precisely 50 years ago, on 9 and 10 January 1968, Mercedes-Benz unveiled the completely redeveloped saloons in the upper medium-size category in Sindelfingen. They are divided up into the model series W 115 (four- and five-cylinder engines) and W 114 (six-cylinder engines). The model series from the E-Class ancestral line impressed with its clear design idiom and a design autonomous from that in the luxury segment.

"Silver Arrows – Races and Records"

Caracciola's 432.7 km/h on a public road on 28 January 1938: A Mercedes-Benz record for practically all time

On 28 January 1938, driving the Mercedes-Benz W 125 twelve-cylinder record-breaking car, racing driver Rudolf Caracciola established a world speed record on a public road: he reached 432.7 km/h over a flying kilometre on the autobahn between Frankfurt am Main and Darmstadt. A shadow was cast on this success by the fatal accident of a competitor, Auto Union racing driver Bernd Rosemeyer, on the same day. Further information: <http://mb4.me/zHNmIdvo>

25 years ago: Strategic product initiative gets the go-ahead

The Mercedes-Benz brand becomes cool

From traditional manufacturer of luxury cars to leading-edge full-line provider: this was the path upon which Mercedes-Benz embarked 25 years ago for the development of its passenger car range. In January 1993 the Stuttgart-based brand went public with its decision to launch a strategic product initiative. It took the oldest automobile manufacturer in the world through an expansion of its portfolio to new strength – across all segments and markets. Further information: <http://mb4.me/zhmZjYeR>

Mercedes-Benz S-Class of model series 220

New dimensions of passive safety

Safety is a core value of Mercedes-Benz vehicle. That is why the Stuttgart-based brand is continuously advancing the pioneering safety technology, such as the airbag. The first major milestone was the driver's airbag in 1981. The next significant step, the front passenger airbag, debuted 30 years ago in the spring of 1988, likewise in the 126 model series. Since then, many more protective airbags as elements of passive vehicle safety have followed. Further information: <http://mb4.me/Shr1gv0o>

Important Mercedes-Benz innovations from the year 1958

Important Mercedes-Benz innovations from the year 1958

In every epoch the future of the car needs strong innovations for safety and comfort. 60 years ago, for example, Mercedes-Benz made headlines with a multitude of pioneering solutions in this field. They ranged from the seat belt as an optional extra through petrol direct injection in volume production to the power steering system and air conditioning system. The significant patent application for the wedge-pin door lock was made in 1958. This innovation initiative was the result of targeted R&D work at Mercedes-Benz.

Mercedes-Benz 300 SEL
6.3 (W 109)

"One of the fastest and most spirited series production cars on the world market"

Mercedes-Benz caused a sensation at the Geneva Motor Show in March 1968 with the 300 SEL 6.3 (W 109). Because the Stuttgart brand's V8-powered top-of-the-range luxury model delivered the performance of a sports car: acceleration from 0 to 100 km/h in 6.5 seconds, and a top speed of 220 km/h, was outstanding at the time. Not to mention the extensive standard equipment and the inimitable comfort of a Mercedes-Benz. The 300 SEL 6.3 continues to fascinate with its high level of perfection.
